An Exclusive Concert Series

Great Britain offers American performing groups the widest possible range of performance possibilities, including cathedrals, parish churches, music colleges, community centers, pavilions, concert halls, and theaters.

Many American traditions of government, justice, religion, the arts (especially literature and music) have their roots in Britain. A journey to Britain is a discovery of our own past and this experience is enhanced by the sharing of music with appreciative audiences. A shared concert with local orchestras, choirs, brass bands, and wind ensembles is recommended as part of the American Celebration of Music in Britain.

Great Britain has a long history that has created traditions that will stand forever, but one notices a great forward-looking optimism in this land of Shakespeare, Milton, Dickens, Churchill, the Windsors, the Beatles, and the late Princess Diana.

Select American groups are invited to share their talents in the very surroundings where Benjamin Britten, Gustav Holst, Ralph Vaughan Williams, Edward Elgar, Hubert Parry, William Byrd, and numerous other famous composers shared theirs.

"Great tour! Too many highlights to list! If you asked the participants, each would answer differently. My MCI Team were all "top drawer", and our local Tour Manager was by far the best of all our 10 tours. Everyone loved her!"

Gerald Tedesco, Director
Sussex County Youth Orchestra

“The performances were a definite highlight, especially Southwark Cathedral in London – a wonderful, outstanding venue, with a full house. Emotions ran high with the students! All of the MCI team was helpful, professional, and very flexible.”

Burke Lokey, Orchestra Director
St. Joseph High School

“Thanks to all at MCI for excellent communication through the planning process. I absolutely noticed, with great appreciation, that this seemed like a team effort throughout the tour from many vantage points and was a cohesive and highly collaborative enterprise. Having this tour so well and professionally supported was extremely helpful and much appreciated.”

Michael Shasberger, Director
Westmont College Orchestra
